

It is a big problem in Spain because a lot of women are battered and murdered every year.

Firstly I think the education at school is the most important thing if we want to solve the problem. Nowadays boys should learn that they must respect the girls and girls should learn that they should never allow a man to hit them because a person who loves you never hits you. I remember that some years ago people in Spain thought that it was a family problem in fact people thought that the woman was guilty. Fortunately nowadays people in Spain think that it is a problem of all society.

Secondly I think Spain should spend a lot of money to help women because many times they don't have job, house or money. Besides politicians, neighbours, family, friends, judges, lawyers, police and social services must work together to help them. I hope the problem will be solved in the near future.
